

When you
have diabetes,

you become
as relentless
as the disease
you're fighting.

Tracey Brown, type 2 diabetes

EVERYDAY REALITY

SPONSORED BY

Diabetes carries a social burden, as too many Americans wrongfully assume the disease is the result of poor choices. The choice we have with diabetes is to manage it, thrive in spite of it, and support those living with it.

Here's how to help:
diabetes.org/everydayreality